

Re: NAB Petition 04-160.

I am a subscriber to XM Satellite Radio. I pay for this service to get the type of programming I like, without commercial interruption. When traveling, it is important to me to be able to tune directly to a traffic/weather station as offered on XM radio to get the information I need. Why should I have to try to figure out what commercial broadcast stations are in the particular city I'm visiting, then figure out which one does traffic and weather, and further figure out what time they do this? XM makes it quite simple.

Please reject NAB's petition.
